Prince William Pottery

Prince William Pottery was Barnhill Marketing's very first client when we set up the business in January 2000. Then it was an interim Sales Director's role that the company needed – today, Barnhill Marketing is helping with bespoke customer-care training and strategic long-term business planning. By gaining a genuine understanding of the clients' business, on-demand consulting is consistently used to good effect without wasting time catching-up.

CSG

Starting with a company-wide Sales and Marketing audit, Barnhill Marketing was quickly able to produce impartial and yet compelling advice which led to significant structural changes in the way this fast-growing hazardous waste recycler markets its services across the UK.

As CSG today continues to hit high-growth targets with enviable consistency (voted 60th in the annual Sunday Times PwC Profit Track listing - read the article here) Barnhill Marketing is still providing marketing support to the MD as he deals with specific challenges relating to expansion of discrete market sectors or areas.
